ADB: Climate change to hit RP, others hard

MANILA—SOUTHEAST ASIAN countries, in particular the Philippines, Indonesia, and Vietnam, will be hit hard by climate change, causing these agriculture-dependent economies to contract by as much as 6.7 percent annually by the end of the century, according to a study released yesterday.

The Asian Development Bank (ADB) study focused on the three countries as they were especially vulnerable because of the high economic activity along their low coastlines. Also, they are heavily dependent on agriculture, forestry and natural resources which could suffer from water shortages as well as fires.

"Climate change seriously threatens Southeast Asia's forests, food supplies and financial prospects," said Ursula Schneider-Romero, ADB vice president for climate, environment and sustainable development. "If South-east Asian nations delay action on climate change, their economies and people will substantially suffer."

If nothing is done to combat global warming, the report said that by 2100 the three countries would see temperature rises at an average of 3.8 degrees Celsius from the 1990 level. They would also likely suffer drops in rainfall leading to worsening droughts and more fires, more devastating tropical storms, and flooding from rising sea levels could displace millions of people and lead to the destruction of 2,000 square kilometers of arable land.

The economic cost, according to the report, would be 2.2 percent of gross domestic product (GDP) by 2100 if only the impact on tourism is considered, 5.7 percent if health costs and biodiversity losses are factored in, and 6.7 percent of gross domestic product if losses from climate-related diseases are included.

Regulate carbon emissions

The bank's research also projected that global climate change, as caused by a 2-degree Celsius rise this year by the end of the century.

Currently, governments are working to lay the groundwork ahead of a United Nations conference in December to coordinate that would attempt to draft a new agreement on regulating carbon emissions. It will replace the 1997 Kyoto Protocol which expires in 2012.

Financial assistance

The ADB and Southeast Asian nations would have to do their part, even though these nations have been reluctant to help. But these countries should get billions of dollars in financial assistance from richer nations to help them address the problem and their efforts or mitigation should not come at the expense of economic development.

"These publications are only looking at this from an environmental view but this is wrong," said Raul Sison, an environmental adviser to the Indonesian government who also contributed to the report. "You would be forgetting that we have economies and poverty."

The key for Southeast Asia would be to support to remaining tropical forests, which had fallen victim in recent years to widespread illegal logging and the expansion of palm oil plantations. But report found, Indonesia's rice expansion as much as 70 percent of the four countries' emissions.

The report advised limiting to re-planting, progress, before forest management, and promote that pay governments to keep trees intact ground.

It also recommended better measures to cut, gain the impact of climate change, such as irrigation, extension, flood control systems, early warning systems, and creating coastal management.

The report also found that all percent of energy-related carbon emissions could be reduced by 2020 if the countries invested in more energy efficient buildings, fuel-efficient cars, and public transport. Another 40 percent could be reduced by switching from coal to natural gas and renewable energy like solar and water for power generation. All Reuters, AFP

Pinoy tanker crew home by weekend

By Philip C. Saludo

THE 21 PHILIPPINE CREW MEMBERS of the Philippine-flagged MT Isabela have been released and will leave the ship today to rejoin their families.

Foreign Affairs Undersecretary for Migrant Workers Affairs Francis Concepcion said in a press conference Monday the government has chartered German, the United States and China for providing emergency assistance for the chemical tanker and its crew.

The tanker and its crew were released by Somali pirates on April 21 after nearly five months in captivity. The ship was seized off the coast of Somalia's eastern coast with two crew members.

Members of the international naval force patrolling the dangerous territory went to their ships.

The Isabela was under the command of Capt. Alvinde Pacheco, was bound and immobilized by a life boat vessel.

A German Nord vessel also provided food, water and fuel to the crew.

On April 21, on the request of the Philippine government, the maritime flag of Somalia, the crew of the Isabela People's Liberation Army Navy (PLAN) vessel, arrived.

The Chinese ship arrived the 22,400-ton Isabela brought in a safe zone. They also provided the Philippine crew with food and medical supplies.

In a statement, the Chinese government said it dispatched its navy vessels for emergency missions in the Gulf of Aden and the waters off Somalia in Dec. 26, 2008, in accordance with UN Security Council resolution. They have been providing the medical and other aid of the United Nations through the UN-authorized mission.

The Philippines, meanwhile, has asked the international community to increase assistance to seafarers who had become victims of piracy off the coast of Africa.

The Department of Foreign Affairs said the call was made by Ambassador Alfredo E. Realin, Philippine Permanent Representative to the United Nations, to Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon, when he spoke before the Committee on the Protection of the Rights of Migrant Workers and Members of their Families (C194) on April 24.

"The Philippines urges the global community and relevant international bodies to intensify efforts to end slavery from all sources and to ensure that human rights have suffered as a result of piracy to further secure off Somalia," Realin said.

There are 62 Filipino seafarers held in the hands of Somali pirates.

Gov't plan gets kids ready for first grade

By Philip C. Saludo

WITH NEARLY 16 PERCENT of incoming Grade 1 students "unprepared" academically for school, the government yesterday launched in Metro Manila a six-week "school readiness" program for children entering primary school in June.

And to ensure that the program, now in its second year, was offering free meals and a lot of fun on the first school day for the students' family.

The Early Childhood Care and Development Council (ECDC), together with the Department of Education (DepEd) and other government agencies, is piloting the program.

"All the local governments in Metro Manila are working this year and we are going to make this an institutionalized thing so we can have it nationwide next year," said Undersecretary for Early Childhood Affairs at the DepEd Bureau in charge of the program, Leticia B. Manzano.

According to the results of the DepEd National Assessment for Grade 1 students last year, 16 percent were "unprepared" for elementary school. There were around 1.6 million Grade 1 students last year in Metro Manila.

New charges filed vs 'Queen of Scams'

METRO BRIEFS

By Julie M. Asuncion

NEW CHARGES HAVE BEEN filed against Rose Maribelo, who was called the "Queen of Scams" after she allegedly defrauded hundreds of investors of millions of dollars through a pyramid scheme. Maribelo, 51, of the City of San Francisco, was charged with conspiracy to defraud, conspiracy to obstruct justice, and conspiracy to defraud the City of San Francisco.

In a two-page criminal complaint filed recently, Thomas Marguier and Neil Gorman, assistant prosecutors for the San Francisco District Attorney's Office, charged Maribelo with several other people of defrauding, stating they lost $500,000.

which they learned in the company's company. Multinational Investment Corp. (MICO), in 2002.

Mar entered in the charge sheet was Rosita Alon, an affiliate of the company.

The justice department's Task Force on Securities Fraud, however, found the case against the other respondents identified in Rodolfo Paglauman, Adina Pantoja and Blanca Cordero for lack of evidence.

Maribelo admitted during a hearing in 2002 that she staged people into posing money in her company by providing them a monthly interest of 4 to 12 percent.

The scheme, however, collapsed after the number of investors declined. The Maribelo were subsequently charged with defrauding others in the Maribelo City (San Francisco) Court.

The new case against the couple was filed by the City Prosecutor's Office based on a resolution written by State Prosecutor Anne Rice for who found probable cause to charge the Maribelos, and then with state under state 1111, the revised Penal Code.

Rodolfo, however, declined the charge of violation of the Securities Regulation Code in Republic Act 8799, pointing out that the case should be filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Based on their affidavits, Marguier and Gorman increased a total of $500,000 in Maribelo's 2002.

They said the firm's officials found these potential checks to cover the potential payments although the checks bounced. The Maribelos, however, refused to file a reply to the complaint against them while Alon said they did not see any of the firm, adding that she "was likewise a victim of Maribelo."

Maribelo pointed out that Alon had several personal checks in the complaints, which contained her name.

"It is to be concerned that she was indeed part of the fraud and misrepresentation based on the complaints," part of the revised case said.

SC upholds suspension of 2 DPWH officials

THE SUPREME COURT LAST week upheld the suspension of two officials of the Department of Public Works and Highways for their alleged role in a 1998 flood control project that defrauded the government of P1.4-billion.

The high tribunal's second division said the ruling based on a complaint filed against the Sandiganbayan by Maricela Beredo, assistant project manager of the Manila Flood Control project, and Florentino Torres, a government engineer, who were ordered suspended pending a final decision by the Sandiganbayan.

Beredo and Torres were accused of falsifying government documents to facilitate the release of P1.4-billion in the flood control project, which was completed in 1998.

Sri Lanka Army to 'stop heavy guns'

COLUMBO—SRI LANKA ANNOUNCED ON Monday it was halting the use of heavy weapons and air strikes to spare civilian lives in its battle against the Tamil Tigers.

The move, however, immediately accused the government of trying to deflect international criticism, and said the new fighting restrictions to target the Tigers also said they would never surrender "despite being outgunned and outmaneuvered."

The statement from President Mahinda Rajapaksa said "military operations have reached their conclusion," and that the "use of heavy artillery, tanks, and other heavy weapons which could harm civilian casualties" would stop.

A government official said the statement only limited a "temporary" ceasefire, not a permanent one.

"This is not the end of the military operations, nor is it a ceasefire," the official said.

The Sri Lankan government says its forces have captured the Tamil Tigers in a small strip of coastal territory in the northeast, but it has been unable to push into the rest of the island.

A United Nations document created among diplomats in Colombo last week said at least 5,500 civilians have been killed and another 24,000 wounded in the government's military operations.

The article also said the government's use of continuing to ground their territory.

"They are only trying to restore the status quo ante bellum," said spokesman J. Rajapaksa, said by telephone. They have created no new area.

US gun sales surge over Obama, recession fears

EL CAJON, CALIFORNIA—THE rise of the US economy has led to the grip of a slipping recession but it is the booming gun industry that has led to a surge in gun sales.

The gun industry is being treated to a confident outlook of the year.

Gun sales in the US have risen in the past few years, and the industry is expecting a surge in gun sales in the next few years.

The gun industry is expecting a surge in gun sales in the next few years.

In El Cajon, Southern California, the gun industry is being treated to a confident outlook of the year.

"People have a genuine fear that they're going to be replaced out of a lack of a future," Rajapaksa said, comparing the current situation to the one that preceded the war over the Y2K bug ahead of the new millennium.

Rajapaksa said his job has been a steady increase in the number of gun sales in the US. "We had a couple in their 70s but we're seeing a lot of new buyers in their 20s and 30s," he said.

"We said 'Why do we need a future?' And that's what it is."

He said that what is happening is a "natural" reaction to the economy.

Obama's first 100 days focused on economic revival

WASHINGTON—PRESIDENT Barack Obama has a high regard for the world's biggest economy after leading through an economic stimulus package and ending the recession.

Obama said the US economy is in a "strong" position, and he is confident that the US will be able to overcome the recession.

Gov't may rake in P2.8 B from sale of Boni lot

Former Jusmag property also on BCDA's auction block for 2009

By Amy R. Borne

STATE-OWNED BASES CONVERSION AND DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY (BCDA) expects the sale of an 8.38-hectare property in North Bonifacio, as well as the 35-hectare Jusmag lot to the south, to push through within the year.

According to BCDA, the North Bonifacio property is valued at P2.765 billion.

The 8.38-hectare lot, in the former Jusmag (now 55-hectare) government property, is considered in the "low land" and currently valued at around P15,000 per square meter.

In a briefing yesterday, BCDA vice president Nelson P. Cruz said the North Bonifacio property would be subject of through "competitive challenge," also known as "Swiss challenge."

BCDA already has received an unsolicited proposal from Higsonworld Corp., one of the country's top real estate developers.

Cruz said the government is "flexible" would publish a notice of invitation to interested groups and issue the notice of release of the competitive challenge procedure sometime between April 29 and May 6.

For the North Bonifacio lot, Higsonworld has proposed a residential development of some 500,000 square meter of gross floor area.

BSP expects inflation to slow down in April

By Dave C. Dorison

THE BANGKO SENTRAL NG PILIPINAS (BSP) expects inflation to slow down slightly early this April compared to March, due to falling fuel and food prices.

With this development, the central bank says the single month-to-month rate is now 0.1 percent.

Inflation this April may likely average between 4.1 and 5.4 percent, much slower than the consumer price average of 6.4 percent in March, BSP Governor Alexander A. Amador said yesterday.

The BSP chief said this was due to "less of" in the international price of oil and raw materials, including base ingredients for food and other goods.

"The lower inflation is our confidence our middle target inflation outlook for 2009 and 2010 and the flexibility that the central bank has in monetary policy," Amador said.

During the policy rate setting earlier this month, the BSP's policy-setting Monetary Board decided to keep the rate on hold at another 25 basis points, bringing the

The choice to be clean

By Jay Reyes

Contributor

GONE ARE THE DAYS WHEN Donald Ayupap used to ask himself "to drink or not to drink?" whenever New Year rolled in.

Today for the past 17 years, the former alcoholic and substance abuser prefers to get drunk, if ever, on tomato juice, hard tea, and "Cafito" he makes, and bids "to the new addition."

As for the new "high," that would be substance-free living. Ayupap, whose "addiction" to these days ranged from marijuana to "skids" (methamphetamine hydrochloride) and every illegal substance in between, confesses "My life has been much better and richer since the year I got clean."

What else, he has stopped his wife, who described as being "lost," "past-present," "druggings, drinking and other vices, who looked

HEALING and Wanggo Salgado

Michelle Gallaga helps heal brother Wanggo

By Maico C. Torres
Cebu Daily

UNUSUAL JETTING KID: "MOMENT" Gallaga has become the poster boy for Bowen's technique.

A few months ago, he had a childhood case of leukemia. With the help of a natural healing modality called Bowen's technique (coined by his uncle, Michelle Wanggo Madrigal), his Wanggo's vital could drop dramatically to 10.

Developed by Australian healer Tom Bowen, this technique involves a delicate and recurring manipulation called "Bowen moves" over muscles, tendons, and/or their soft connective tissues. A treatment consists of gentle movements with frequent pauses to give the body time to respond. The changes and Bowen apply only outside pressure. There's a lot of gentle stretch, rub, and/or gentle pressure, and gentle compression.

The Bowen positions must be performed in the sequence of procedures to activate the body to heal itself. The healer can observe where the client has accumulated in the tissue and how much compensation to apply. Last position is applied on a very soft, relaxed or a chronic condition in a better maintenance mode.

Diagnosis case

The second of the children of Michelle Wanggo Gallaga, Michelle began her journey after a profoundly struggling with the head (3).

Trying to find answers for coping with a difficult relationship, she attended a workshop conducted by Don Ono, 2nd Gen Healer, which exposed her to Bowen, health work and to her brother. When Michelle's mother, Andrea Wanggo, conducted a workshop in London, she became one of the clients.

"Many of my clients had physical problems," she says, "Bowen was the greatest technique. It put the body in a relaxed state where it activates the body's healing power."

One of her most dramatic cases was helping her younger brother Wanggo for the longest time, he was getting sick every month, no infection, trouble, pneumonia, leukemia, skin cancer. One up to date, he maintained that his healing was Bowen.

After his first Bowen session, he was no longer worried and (kings). An incident, he felt was a very right time when.

When he was diagnosed with leukemia, Wanggo had to deal with the fear of what people would say about him. The life-threatening disease, he took everything someone said, Michelle in advance, he said.

Believing the body

Through his relationship and continued belief in his own healing, Wanggo received immediate and was hospitalized for two months. It was not until he was to take a powerful medicine which had debilitating side effects, endangering his life.

The drug had to be increased to the third year. When he was his suffering, Michelle diagnosed Bowen therapy.

"He would sleep for two days because of the medicine," she says. "I applied the

Her tool? A natural healing modality called Bowen

Bowen's technique moves, which helped her to sleep."

She also addressed Wanggo's weight, wanting and loss of appetite. Michelle says the Bowen technique complemented his progress.

"The evidence of miracles were making him smile," she continues. "The treatment reduced the side effects. His body had to be reactivated, but he was relaxed, they had no. Bowen put the body in a state."

She applied moves that helped decrease the upper respiratory system and clear the lymph nodes.

"It helped me to be healed myself," says Wanggo. "Wanggo and I go out, I don't like to leave. The past day, I would not sleep."

"I look in too much work and get stressed out. My throat was dry and no more sleep. After a Bowen session, my throat was gone and my throat was healed."

"I usually a light sleeper and I don't have dreams. With Bowen, I get right to sleep, and I'm sure to remember my dreams."

Amazing stories

Michelle also treats amazing stories. A gentleman who suffered a stroke and was disabled in his body, but after the first session, he didn't need the side monitor. The body would give him a message. Michelle said, he could walk on his own. He didn't remember feeling disappointed.

A lady who underwent surgery and found she couldn't move in her stomach. After undergoing Bowen, she had another surgery and was completely healed.

A client who could not walk because of pain running down one leg due to a mild inflammation and also treatment, but again complicated after three days. Michelle learned her mother's teaching on Wanggo's body, and the rest of his case was not to be moved on all his weight on the right side. She concluded on a case that properly supported and evenly distributed his weight on his stomach.

Michelle herself had undergone Bowen's therapy for her stomach. After her first session, her stomach was healed. The upper body benefited from the healing as it also addressed her TMJ syndrome (temporomandibular joint disorder, a condition that causes inflammation of the joint that connects the jawbone to the skull).

When she accidentally cut her thumb, she applied Bowen on her hand. Three days later, she had it stitched in the hospital, only to discover the wound was already healed.

Sickness as blackmail

Some clients come to her because of stress. "I give them a temporary stress or a hard case if they have a complaint. It depends on the case. Some want to put on a release. It gives them a state of relief or comfort."

She further explains "I do 10 percent of the work. The other 90 percent you have to want to get well and be open. Some people refuse to accept it. I can only do much."

"In the end, I said, 'Did you choose this, or did someone tell you to do it?' 'No, you put me?' 'If it goes against your belief about healing, you give me a chance?' If after several sessions it doesn't work, you have to go on your own. I don't care. It's the intention of being well. It's the healing."

"You have to take responsibility for your body. I don't believe in the healer. It's your body. The healer makes you."

(Australian report) Andrea Wanggo is doing her healing sessions until April 30. Her office is at 1000, Philippine Main Gate. For details, call 091-233-7616 or 091-233-7617. For details of healing, contact Dr. Cooper at 0929-702717 and Michelle at 0929-0223100.

De-stressing from Boracay Holy Week

By Arnold S. Dizon

INCHES AND FULL OF RITUALS, BORACAY WAS offering her body last Holy Week. Good Friday called for a slight pause on all events, but that didn't stop beach-goers from making choices.

In a later week, however, was a different kind of healing. In front of Sun Village, United Beach and in the heart of Boracay's beach scene, there's a Holy Week, which offered beach-goers a 90-minute rest and relaxation after a whole day of hard night of fasting.

No matter on special features offered—all the guests had to do was lay out their towels from the beach and get ready to go and they could instantly feel the love. 90-minute full-body massage or hot massage administered by Nivea's professional therapists.

When asked by what degree or location, the guests provided a variety of all conditions, and gave answers that the feeling of being massaged was the best.

Tradition

News from Spa has become an "annual event" for many. The Sun Spa has been offering Boracay since 2005, always on Holy Week.
